OVERVIEW

Get up close to the action (and away from the crowds) on this unique Bush Rover safari, then relax on the picturesque island beaches of Zanzibar.

The Bush Rover Migration Camp is a brilliant concept that turns the most iconic of safari vehicles, the Land Rover, into a luxury tented camp. Unlike lodges, the mobile vehicles can be positioned in the best vantage points to witness incredible Serengeti wildlife away from the crowds. The camps are especially popular around the time of the great wildebeest migration between July and October.

Any safari to Tanzania wouldn't be complete without visiting the incredible UNESCO world heritage listed Ngorongoro Crater. This giant volcanic wonder teems with wildlife against a spectacular backdrop. After all that excitement, you can relax on the beautiful island of Zanzibar. Aside from white sand beaches, swaying palms and turquoise seas, it also offers a wide range of historical, cultural and natural attractions. This is a great combination of safari & beach that would make a fabulous honeymoon or special vacation.

The Serengeti (together with Kenya's Masai Mara) form Africa's most famous wildlife park. The proliferation of wildlife here is staggering with lion, leopard, elephant, buffalo and rhino making up the Big Five. The greatest safari spectacle in the world heads through here between July and September. DAY 6 - NGORONGORO CRATER

Descend into the Ngorongoro crater, a UNESCO world heritage site, which holds the greatest concentration of wildlife in Africa. It is 600 meters deep, 20 kilometres wide and the largest unflooded, unbroken caldera in the world. It's an extraordinary ecosystem where you can find the Big Five and if you're lucky, the endangered black rhino. When it was still active, the volcano deposited ash on the nearby plains, preserving many fossils in Olduvai (Oldupai) Gorge, discovered by Louis and Mary Leakey.
